

Jewish Life at GW

We, the undersigned, are students at the George Washington University. Each of us enjoy a personal relationship with Rabbi Yudi Steiner and very much appreciate the role he plays as our Rabbi and as a wise "big brother" to us while we live away from home.

It takes a considerable amount of time and good luck for personal relationships of this nature to develop. A new additional rabbi may prove effective in cultivating relationships with some of the many members of the Jewish student body who lack but would appreciate a rabbi figure in their lives. But the special rapport that we and other students and alumni enjoy with Rabbi Steiner is not something that can be replaced by a substitute, however competent.

We are aware that Rabbi Steiner is no longer employed by American Friends of Lubavitch, but we are glad and relieved to hear that Rabbi Steiner intends to continue on his own and will continue to provide religious services and spiritual guidance.

We are very grateful to Rabbi Steiner for his continued selfless work on behalf of the Jewish students of our university and the sense of community that he creates here.
